

Dreams of liberation...

She cries out to hills
Her heart needs heals
Her mind is abroad
Her body fails her Dreams of liberation weighs her sleep
To liberate the youth from slavery of the mind
A mind that is system-dependent Limited by the stench of corruption
And demoralization.

If only she can heal her heart
If only her mind can just connect to other youths
And seamlessly tell them
Our society is breaking away
Our humanity is under attack
Our environment is being hunted
But our bodies are the culprit Our minds the prisoner of our bodies
She just needs HEALS to be abroad

We Educate, We Empower, We Volunteer!

When a mind is directed to its purpose and given the right knowledge to engage, there is nothing the carrier of the mind cannot do. According to Weaver II, E. A., Doyle H. H.

The average adult human brain contains approximately 100 billion neurons, and just as many—if not more—glia. Although neurons are the most famous brain cells, both neurons and glial cells are necessary for proper brain function. Neurons are the cells in the brain that send and receive electrical and chemical signals...

GIEVA's physical tool to empower are vocational training, volunteerism, education and cultural exchange. She is committed to deploying all resources for our Nation's development through mind liberation from system dependency to self reliance.
